

Maine Educational Opportunity Center work with community agencies to provide a program that opens doors for Maine's low income, first generation adults - by helping them aspire to, prepare for, and access the best educational opportunities available.

“As a non-traditional student reentering the academic arena was not only intimidating but also unrealistic. My MEOC advisor encouraged me to cross the barriers of my own fear and achieve a life long dream, a college education .”

Maine Educational Opportunity Center

Helping Maine's Low Income and Potential First Generation College Adults Access Higher Education Since 1991

Maine Educational Opportunity Center (MEOC)

- Provides one-on-one and group support, and guidance to low income adults who will be the first in their families to attend college.
- Is funded entirely by the United States Dept. of Education and sponsored by the University of Maine's College of Education and Human Development.
- Provides access to postsecondary education to a minimum of 2,269 adults per year.

The Mission of MEOC is:

- Increase the awareness of post secondary educational opportunities available to Maine's low income, first generation adults who desire to pursue higher education.
- Assist eligible adults in successfully matching career goals to education plans with the goal of ultimately earning a college degree.

Why Educational Opportunity Center in Maine?

- Only 27.5% of Maine residents age 25 and older have baccalaureate degree or higher. This is the lowest rate in New England. (American Community Survey, 2014).
- Only 62% of Maine's graduating seniors went on to college within a year of graduating. (Mitchell Institute)
- Students from families whose parents did not attend college score significantly lower on the Maine Educational Assessment than students whose parents are college educated (ME Dept of Education)
- Of adults aged 19 or older with a high school credential, only 10.9% are enrolled in Maine's universities or community colleges. (American Community Survey, 2014 & IPEDS, 2015)
- Many adults interested in college, never even start the process. In fact, according to a University of Maine System survey, of adults who inquire about college, only 38% even complete an application.
